

Learning Log or Poster

The Kaspersky Commonwealth Expedition team is made up of women from around the world who have never been to the Antarctic. Before they arrived in Antarctica, it was really important that they learn as much as possible. This way they would be as prepared as possible for the climate, conditions and what would be expected of them.

Can you design a learning log/poster which the team could use to find out lots of information about Antarctica.

Send your best efforts to justine@commonwealthexpedition.com, remember to include a photo of yourself, so we can add it to the website.
